106 Arthur Rd.
Asheville, N.C. 28806

Dear Thurman:

In further response to your letter regarding the Corben Company and the Baby Ace "D" and your two place Junior Ace, we do not plan to use the name Corben Baby Ace or JuniorAce, so that would be no confusion.

We have changed the name of the aircraft to the Pober Ace and any information sent will be referred to as such. I doubt if there will be much sent, as there has only been one inquiry.

My best to you.

Sincerely,

Paul H. Poberezny
President

P.S. The airplane was repainted during June and does not carry the name Corben, but had been changed to Pober. I probably should have done the same on the two EAA Acro Sports I designed. However, the Pober Sport carries the name and is on display in the Museum.
